Reddit Username Analysis

Wesley Wolanski and Jeff Gevaert

Our Problem
- Is there any correlation between types of usernames and voting trends?
- Can the content of a username give any representation of the user themselves?

Motivation
Has society changed in that previously unacceptable language doesn't matter?
- Does this language matter?

Solution

Compare voting data of usernames containing inappropriate language to those who do not.

Results

A correlation between username type and voting trends among them could not be observed.

Data

Scatter plots show similar trends among both sets of information.

Data
Ratio information shows similar trends among both sets of data.
